It's pretty tough deciding what to do if you only have one day in New York City. As a native New Yorker, I'm always a bit unsure what to say when people tell me that they only have 24 hours in New York, but there's nothing wrong with maximizing your time in New York, especially if you only have a layover in New York.

And Mikey, the founder, is a native New Yorker! Native New Yorkers usually go for the Dough Boy (cookie dough ice cream with cookie dough and brownie pieces) and Brady Bunch (banana pudding ice cream with vanilla wafer and Vienna fingers in the mix). My favorite waffle by far is the red velvet, the taste is good and the color is classy.

New York. There's no other place like it. It's an amazing place to live in, visit, and eat your way through. Being a native New Yorker has exposed me to delicious and enriching food culture, but also the various ways that (some) tourists order and eat their food, and let me tell you, for the most part, it's not pretty.

New York is a great city in which to walk. If you want to explore further I can highly recommend the walking tours that Charles Schwartz gives (Native New Yorker Walking Tours). We took two tours with Mr. Schwartz in the Bronx and saw not only beautiful Art Deco buildings along the Grand Concourse but lovely parks and historic homes.
