Trenton, I'm hoping someone with a bit more knowledge than me chimes in but they look like what you stated. Whether you have 2, 3 or even 4 12volt batteries wired in parallel, its still a 12 volt bank of batteries. The wiring dia. ( I posted earlier) uses 4 6volt batteries two sets of two wired in series effectively giving 2 12 volt batteries.

The kits are good for a hobby truck or street rod, but if you are going to work it then bite the bullet and wire from scratch. Plan it out ahead of time, pick good components and use fine strand wire, maybe even go up one gauge thruout. If you take your time you can do a better job than the factory did and make everything strong and weather tight. If you wire it
