Library Mouse A World to Explore is a children's picture book intended for children four to eight years of age. This story takes place in a library. Two mice, Sam and Sarah, each explore the world (which is the library) in their own way. Sam prefers to explore by reading books while Sarah prefers to explore by actually visiting different locations.

Library Mouse: A World to Explore by Daniel Kirk

Sam is a mouse who lives in a library. He loves to read all kinds of books. He learns that he also loves to make up and write his own stories, just like the books he finds in the library. He begins to leave his stories (that he also illustrates) in different parts of the library — like, the mystery he writes he places alongside the other mysteries.

Library Mouse: A World to Explore is the third story in the series, and is used for the corresponding lesson. I begin by holding it up, as I did at the end of Lesson 2 to remind them that we might be introduced to a new character this week. Is she real or is she someone Sam is creating using his imagination? Does shy little Sam make a real friend?
