I first read about this go-to strategy in the Folger Library's Shakespeare Set Free resources. Over the years, I've developed and personalized my own take on this interactive way of getting students to jump into Shakespeare's language. The basic "Tossing Lines" activity is to give each student a different line from the play,...

The Shakespeare Set Free series is absolutely indispensable for anyone who plans to teach the bard in middle or high school. I found a dog-eared copy of this thing in my library at school last year when I taught Hamlet, and the kids absolutely loved the lessons I adapted from it. Solid, teachable, fun ways to get really complex ideas and language across to kids.
